Victory Day

Victory Day in Russia marks Germany’s surrender to the Soviet Union in 1945. It became the end of the Great Patriotic War for the USSR, which lost about 25 million citizens in the four years of fighting. Two separate capitulation events took place at the time. First, the capitulation to the Allied nations in Reims was signed on 8 May. This date is the V-E Day (Victory in Europe Day) in most western European countries. Another ceremony was in Berlin late on 8 May, when it was already 9 May in Moscow due to the difference in time zones. Field-Marshal Wilhelm Keitel submitted the capitulation of the Wehrmacht to Marshal Georgy Zhukov.

To commemorate (отметить) the victory in the war, the ceremonial Moscow Victory Parade was held in the Soviet capital on 24 June 1945. Victory Day London is a ceremonial event in London on 9 May in commemoration of the victory in the Second World War and the Arctic Convoys 1941-1945. A ceremony is on the museum ship on the Thames.

11 British veterans from England and Scotland will travel to Saint Petersburg on May 7th. An extensive programme of events is expecting the veterans of legendary convoys that delivered vital supplies to the Soviet Union. The programme will include the laying of wreaths ceremony at Piskaryovsky Memorial Cemetery on May 8th, the Victory Parade on Palace Square and the solemn procession of veterans on Nevsky Avenue on May 9th among other events. They risked their lives in the delivery of ammunition, food and equipment to the Soviet Union on Northern Sea Route. This year the world celebrates the 70th Anniversary of the end of the Second World War.

IMMORTAL REGIMENT TO TAKE OVER THE WORLD

One of the most spectacular, massive and sincere events of the Victory Day this year will certainly be again the Immortal Regiment march. It will be the eighth time, when famous and common heroes of the WWII will “march” in the streets of the Russian cities and other countries. Nine US cities are going to take part in the campaign this year: the Immortal Regiment will march in the streets of Washington, New York, San Francisco, Seattle, Denver, Houston, Chicago, Orlando, Boston.

New York will be hosting the Immortal Regiment March for the fifth time; the final destination of the march will be the WWII Soldiers Monument. In addition, a campaign named “St. George Ribbon” will be held on May 9 in some of the American cities – everyone will be given this symbol of Victory.

Canada will see the Immortal Regiment marches in Toronto and Montreal – over two thousand people are expected to take part in them. Montreal organizers are also inviting the local veterans.

London will be holding the Immortal Regiment campaign for the fourth time ever this year. The organizers have filed an application for 500 participants, but shortly before the event, they keep receiving calls, asking to join the march so it is more than likely that the march will exceed the declared numbers.

In Switzerland, activists of the Immortal Regiment campaign are inviting everyone, who wants to honour the memory of the Soviet soldiers, died during World War II, to join a solemn memory ceremony at the “Thornley” cemetery in Bazelle, where four Red Army soldiers are buried. This year, many visitors will be holding photographs of their relatives, who died at war.

Baltic States are also joining the campaign. A column in Tallin will march from Bus Terminal to the Bronze Soldier Monument, although the state has given only 30 minutes for the march. In Riga, the marching participants will have an hour to walk to the Victory Park.

Immortal Regiment will also be walking in the streets of Beograd on May 9 and before the march, the campaign volunteers will give the St. George Ribbons to all the willing participants.

Russian compatriots in Venice will hold the Immortal Regiment campaign at the Slavic embankment. In Rome, children from Russian schools in Italy will draw portraits of the war heroes – they will form a Wall of Memory together with the survived photographs.

Last year’s Immortal Regiment march in Berlin attracted special attention – its participants were met with applause and “thank you!” shouts near the Soviet War Memorial in Treptower Park. This year, the Immortal Regiment will march in Berlin, Hamburg and Dortmund.

3. Совершенствование навыков письма

You have received a letter from your English-speaking pen-friend Jane who writes:

... So you see that I enjoy films based on true historic facts. What kinds of films do you like watching? Do you prefer watching films in the cinema or at home? Why? Do you agree that it is better to read a book before watching the film based on it? Why or why not?

I've just come back from a trip to Wales...

Write a letter to Jane. In your letter answer her questions, ask 3 questions about her trip to Wales. Write 100—140 words. Remember the rules of letter writing. You have 20 minutes to do this task.
